Year-End Business Update

Company Nurse and Enspiri Solutions ended the year on a high note

By Debra Spamer, vice president, business development

We ended the year strong, and I am pleased to share updates from this past quarter. The following is a roundup of business updates from Company Nurse and Enspiri Solutions. For the full article, click here.

Telemedicine Innovations in Workers' Compensation

Employers and Self-Insured Groups shed light on how telemedicine is making an impact

By Paul Binsfeld, president and founder

For the past twenty years, nurse triage has been helping employers, insurance underwriters, and claims adjusting companies in the workers' compensation industry by providing first aid recommendations for conditions that do not require a physician evaluation. Today, many in the workers' compensation industry would like to take telehealth to the next level. For the full article, click here.

and was soon promoted to Co-Lead/Supervisor in 2014. Christine knew she had a calling in the medical field at a young age, which led her to Company Nurse where she has been passionate about helping our Injury Care Coordinators be more successful and grow individually.

As the company has experienced significant growth, Christine has shined in her ability to support our expansion by contributing to the design of training outlines and providing input with new systems and processes.

"As I have developed professionally, I realize how much I love training staff and leading people to success," says Christine Larson. "But my love for the medical field is still here too. After some experience hands on with patients and experience in call centers, I get the best of both worlds working for Company Nurse."

Perhaps the most interesting element of Christine's position is that there is no predicting the type of calls that will come in each day. Injuries can range from minor to serious. Yet every day Christine says she learns and grows, and enjoys working closely with her team. She comments, "Each day that I get to come in to work I am happy and excited for the day ahead. What I appreciate most about working with Company Nurse is that the company promotes professional development in every way. I strive for greatness in myself - and I know I can be successful and accomplish that here."

The Secret to Happiness: Do the Right Thing

Building a company, a culture, that makes a positive impact

By Paul Binsfeld, president and founder

As part of our annual strategic planning session, my entire executive management team gathered and refined our core values. What is a brand's value? Steve Jobs once wrote: "To me, marketing is about values. This is a very complicated world, it's a very noisy world. And we're not going to get the chance to get people to remember much about us. No company is. So we have to be really clear on what we want them to know about us. For the full article, click here.
